The status of India in the global economy depends upon the legislative support in the form of Corporate legislations. The Corporate legislations like The Companies Act, 2013; The Securities Contracts (Regulations) Act, 1956; The Depositories Act, 1996; The Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999; The Foreign Contribution (Regulations) Act, 2010 and other allied legislations play a very divergent role. The enactment of the Companies Act, 2013 has brought a number of provisions to ensure better Corporate Governance.
