

Brief Profile
Shri R. Krishnan

A first class post graduate in Commerce and Law graduate from Delhi University, Shri R. Krishnan is a member of Indian Institute of Bankers and All India Management Association. He is also a member of the Indian law Institute.

Shri Krishnan started his career in 1971 with Bank of Baroda, then moved to the then Delhi Cloth and General Mills (DCM Group) and served for some time in the Office of the C&AG and then again served in Indian Bank. His keen interest in academics led him to become the Assistant Professor of Commerce in Madras University where he taught Accounting, business laws and taxation. His keen desire to go more professional led him to take up the assignment as an Assistant Director of Studies in the Institute of Company Secretaries of India in 1978 and went on to become Director of Studies in 1995 besides holding independent charge of the Research Directorate for three years. During his tenure in the Institute, he was an adorable speaker in various seminars and conferences many of which he organised for the members of the Institute, mostly on corporate laws and indirect taxation. He has contributed prize winning articles in Chartered Secretary and was a frequent contributor to various other economic and commercial dailies and magazines.

Shri Krishnan is an interesting and absorbing speaker and has a unique and facile style of presentation. He has authored a number of books on customs, central excise and service tax which are popular for the last 20 years now.

Since 1995 he has taken to independent practice as a lawyer on customs, excise and service tax matters and besides being an arguing counsel, he is also an advisor to a number of companies, big and small. He is highly spiritual minded, values professional ethics to the core and is an ardent practitioner of Art of Living as a way of life.
