- d) Risks follows ownership.
- e) Limited Liability Partnership is distinct from limited partnership

Answer:

- e) The difference can be marked out as follows.

Limited liability partnership is granted to all partners .	Limited partnership is granted to a set of non managing partners only.
The law relating to partnership is not applicable.	The law relating to partnership is very much applicable.

Question: 2

Comment on the following based on legal provisions:

- a) Aditya appoints his brother Abhishek who is 16 years 7months as his agent.
- b) C delivered furniture items to AB Transport Co. for transporting the goods from Asansol to Kolkata. On the way the truck carrying the items met with an accident due to rash driving on part of the driver and the goods got damaged. C sued the owner of the Co. for the loss.
- c) Discuss about the different kinds of contracts.

Answer:

- a) As per Law of Contract , as an agent does not make contract on his own, he need not have contractual capacity. So a minor may be appointed as an agent. However a minor cannot be held responsible to his principal. So, nothing in law prohibits Abhishek from becoming an agent of Aditya. But he will not be responsible to Aditya
- b) The position of owner of the transport company is that of a bailee. He is responsible to take reasonable care of the goods.The goods got damaged due to negligence of his employed driver. So he is liable to pay C for the loss.
- c) Classification of Contract:

Revisionary Test Paper_Intermediate_Syllabus 2008_Jun2014

Contracts can be classified in terms of their Enforceability or form or extent of performance.

1. Based on Enforceability:

(i) Valid Contract: An agreement enforceable by law is a valid contract. In other words it satisfies all the requirements of a valid contract as laid down in section 10. If any of the essential requirement is missing it becomes a void contract.

(ii) Void agreement: An agreement not enforceable by law is said to be void. A void agreement has no legal consequences.

(iii) Voidable contract: An agreement which is enforceable at the option of one or more parties thereto but not at the option of other or others is a voidable contract.

(iv) Void contract: A Contract which ceases to be enforceable by law becomes void when it ceases to be so enforceable. Void agreement and void contract are different. Void agreement is void ab-initio but void contract is a valid contract at the beginning but subsequently becomes void when it ceases to be enforceable.

(v) Unenforceable contracts: These are the contracts which can not be enforced in a court of law because of some technical defects, these contracts become fully enforceable if the technical defects are removed.

(vi) Illegal Contracts: An illegal agreement is destitute of any legal effect from the very beginning. All illegal agreements are void agreements but all void agreements are not illegal.

2. Based on method of formation:

(a) Formal contracts: This term is usually found in English laws. Validity of these contracts depends upon their form. They are valid even if they lack consideration. These contracts are of two types; Contract under seal and contract of Records. Contract under seal are in writing and signed by the parties to them. Contract of Records includes the court judgements and recognisance, obligations in such cases arise out of judgement and not under the contract.

(b) Simple Contract: All contracts other than formal are called simple contracts or parole contracts.

3. Based on extent of performance:

(a) Executed Contracts: An executed contract is one which has been completely completed by both the parties.

(b) Executory contracts: It is a contract which is wholly unperformed. If one party has performed his part of obligation but the other party has not yet completed his obligation on the contract, the contract still remains executory contract.

3. Based on Obligation:

(a) Unilateral contract: Under this type of contract there is an obligation only on the part of only one party when the contract is concluded.

(b) Bilateral Contract: Here there is an obligation on both the parties to the contract.

Question: 3

a) Arvind is 7 years old. Can he be a beneficiary to any contract?

b) G, the holder of an overdue bill of exchange drawn by P as surety for Q, and accepted by Q, contracts with X to give time to Q. Is P discharged from his liability?

c) When is a consent said to be free? Discuss in details.

Answer:

a) As per Indian Contract Act, 1872 an agreement with a minor is void ab initio. However there is nothing that debars him from becoming a beneficiary i.e. payee, endorsee or promisee in a contract. The law does not regard him incapable of accepting a benefit. It should be however remembered that his property is liable for meeting the liability arising out of contracts to supply him his necessities.

- b) According to Section 136 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, where a contract to give time to the principal debtor is made by the creditor with a third person and not with the principal debtor, the surety is not discharged. In the given question the contract to give time to the principal debtor is made by the creditor with X who is a third person. X is not the principal debtor. Hence P is not discharged.
- c) Consent is said to be free when it is not caused by—
- (1) coercion, or
 - (2) undue influence, or
 - (3) fraud, or
 - (4) misrepresentation, or
 - (5) mistake, subject to provisions of sec 20, 21 and 22.

Consent is said to be so caused when it would not have been given but for the existence of such coercion, undue influence, fraud, misrepresentation or mistake.

1. COERCION - "Coercion" is the committing or threatening to commit, any act forbidden by the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860), or the unlawful detaining, or threatening to detain, any property, to the prejudice of any person whatever, with the intention of causing any person to enter into an agreement.

2. UNDUE INFLUENCE -

- i. A contract is said to be induced by "undue influence" where the relations subsisting between the parties are such that one of the parties is in a position to dominate the will of the other and uses that position to obtain an unfair advantage over the other.
- ii. In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the forgoing principle, a person is deemed to be in a position to dominate the will of another—
 - (a) Where he holds a real or apparent authority over the other, or where he stands in a fiduciary relation to the other; or
 - (b) Where he makes a contract with a person whose mental capacity is temporarily or permanently affected by reason of age, illness, or mental or bodily distress.
- iii. Where a person, who is in a position to dominate the will of another, enters into a contract with him, and the transaction appears, on the face of it or on the evidence adduced, to be unconscionable, the burden of proving that such contract was not induced by undue influence shall lie upon the person in a position to dominate the will of the other. Nothing in this sub-section shall affect the provisions of section 111 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (1 of 1872).

There is presumption of undue influence in the following relationships:

- (i) Parent and child
- (ii) Guardian and ward
- (iii) Doctor and patient
- (iv) Solicitor and client
- (v) Trustee and beneficiary
- (vi) Religious advisor and disciple
- (vii) Fiance and fiancée

There is however no presumption of undue influence in case of relationship of— (i) landlord and tenant (ii) debtor and creditor (iii) husband and wife. The wife has to be pardanashin for such presumption. In these relationships undue influence has to be proved.

3. FRAUD

Revisionary Test Paper_Intermediate_Syllabus 2008_Jun2014

"Fraud" means and includes any of the following acts committed by a party to a contract, or with his connivance, or by his agent, with intent to deceive another party thereto or his agent, or to induce him to enter into the contract:—

- (i) The suggestion, as a fact, of that which is not true by one who does not believe it to be true;
- (ii) The active concealment of a fact by one having knowledge or belief of the fact;
- (iii) A promise made without any intention of performing it;
- (iv) Any other act fitted to deceive;
- (v) Any such act or omission as the law specially declares to be fraudulent.

4. MISREPRESENTATION

"Misrepresentation" means and includes—

- (1) The positive assertion, in a manner not warranted by the information of the person making it, of that which is not true, though he believes it to be true;
- (2) Any breach of duty which, without an intent to deceive, gains an advantage to the person committing it, or any one claiming under him, by misleading another to his prejudice or to the prejudice of anyone claiming under him ;
- (3) Causing, however innocently, a party to an agreement to make a mistake as to the substance of the thing which is the subject of the agreement.

5. MISTAKE

Mistake means an erroneous belief about something.

Mistake can be -

- (a) Mistake of law, or
- (b) Mistake of fact.

(a) MISTAKE OF LAW

When a party enters into a contract, without the knowledge of law in the country, the contract is affected by such mistake but it is not void. A contract is not voidable because it was caused by a mistake as to any law in force in India. The reason here is that ignorance of law is not an excuse at all. However if a party is induced to enter into a contract by the mistake of law then such a contract is not valid.

(b) MISTAKE OF FACT

Where both the parties to an agreement are under a mistake as to a matter of fact essential to the agreement, the agreement is void.

Question: 4

- a) Q sent a consignment of goods worth ₹ 160,000 by railway and got railway receipt. He obtained an advance of ₹ 130,000 from the bank and endorsed and delivered the railway receipt in favour of the bank by way of security. The railway failed to deliver the goods at the destination. The bank filed a suit against the railway for ₹1 60,000. Decide in the light of provisions of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, whether the bank would succeed in the said suit?
- b) Will offered to sell his flat to Hell for ₹15 lacs. H replied purporting to accept the offer and enclosed a cheque for ₹8 lacs. He also promised to pay the balance of ₹7 lacs in 20 installments of ₹35000 each. Examine the validity of contract.
- c) 'Agreements by way of Wager are void'. Discuss.
- d) Asha agrees to pay Bikram a sum of money if Bikram marries Chitra. Chitra marries Dev. Is the contract between Asha and Bikram valid?

Answer:

Revisionary Test Paper_Intermediate_Syllabus 2008_Jun2014

- a) As per Sections 178 and 178A of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 the deposit of title deeds with the bank as security against an advance constitutes a pledge. As a pledge, a banker's rights are not limited to his interest in the goods pledged. In case of injury to the goods or their deprivation by a third party, the pledgee would have all such remedies that the owner of the goods would have against them. In Morvi Mercantile Bank Ltd. vs. Union of India, the Supreme Court held that the bank (pledgee) was entitled to recover not only the amount of the advance due to it, but the full value of the consignment. However, the amount over and above his interest is to be held by him in trust for the pledgor. Thus, the bank will succeed in this claim of ₹ 160,000 against Railway.
- b) According to Section 7 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, acceptance must be unqualified and absolute, it must conform to offer. If the parties are not ad idem on all matters concerning the offer and acceptance, there is no contract. In the given case the acceptance is qualified and hence not a valid acceptance. As a result there is no valid contract.
- c) Agreements by way of wager are void; and no suit shall be brought for recovering anything alleged to be won on any wager, or entrusted to a person to abide by the result of any game or other uncertain event on which any wager is made.
Exception in favour of certain prizes for horse-racing.—This section shall not be deemed to render unlawful a subscription, or contribution, or agreement to subscribe or contribute, made or entered into for or toward any plate, prize or sum of money, of the value or amount of five hundred rupees or upwards, to be awarded to the winner or winners of any horse-race.
Section 294A of the Indian Penal Code not affected.—Nothing in this section shall be deemed to legalize any transaction connected with horse-racing, to which the provisions of section 294A of the Indian Penal Code, (45 of 1860) apply.
- d) If the future event on which a contract is contingent is the way in which a person will act at an unspecified time, the event shall be considered to become impossible when such person does anything which renders it impossible that he should so act within any definite time, or otherwise than under further contingencies. The marriage of Bikram to Chitra must now be considered impossible, although it is possible that Dev may die and that Chitra may afterwards marry Bikram. Hence after Chitra marries Dev, the contract is void

- a) Ashish offered to purchase shares of Average Ltd on 1st May 2013. The company made allotment of shares on 30th November 2013. A refused to accept the shares. Can it do so?
- b) Write a note on 'Counter Offer'.
- c) Rajesh has agreed to sell to Pran 400 quintals of wheat out of a huge quantity of wheat stored in his godown. The price, however, was to be paid at a later date, as was specified under the contract of sale of goods. Under such circumstances, has the property in the wheat passed on from the seller to the buyer at the time when the contract was entered into between them? Give reasons for your answer.

Answer:

- a) According to Sec 6(2) of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 an offer is revoked by lapse of time prescribed in the proposal or by lapse of reasonable time without communication of acceptance. What is reasonable time is question of fact in each case. In the given case the offer lapsed as it was not accepted within reasonable time [Ramsgate Victoria Hotel Co. vs Montefiore.]
- b) Where the offeree, instead of unconditionally assenting to the terms of the offer, accepts subject to certain conditions, he is said to have made a counteroffer. Thus, where A offers his car to B for ₹ 1,00,000 and B accepts to buy A's car for ₹ 80,000, B has made a counter offer.

Revisionary Test Paper_Intermediate_Syllabus 2008_Jun2014

A counter offer has the effect of terminating the original offer. If in the aforesaid illustration, B later accepts to pay ₹ 1,00,000 for the car, it shall amount to a fresh offer by B which A may or may not accept.

Similarly, where an offeree agreed to accept half the quantity of goods offered by the offeror on the same terms and conditions as would have applied to the full contract, it was held that there was no contract as there was a counter offer to the original offer.

- c) No; the property in the wheat has not passed on from the seller to the buyer at the time when the contract was entered into between them. This is so because the property in the wheat will be passed on from the seller to the buyer only after the required quantity of wheat is segregated from the huge quantity of wheat stored in the seller's godown. This is so because it will be only then that the required quantity of wheat would be deemed to have been ascertained, and only thereafter the property in the wheat will pass on from the seller to the buyer. Until then it will remain in the nature of unascertained or future goods, because, under Section 18 of the Sale of Goods Act, in the case of a contract of sale of 'unascertained or future goods', the property in the goods will not be transferred from the seller to the buyer unless the goods become ascertained.

Question: 6

- a) When is communication of revocation complete?
- b) Avinash is sixteen years of age. He lends ₹ 1 lac to Bijay on the strength of a mortgage executed in his favour. Is the borrower liable to repay the money? Give reasons.
- c) Ten cows were 'exchanged; at an agreed price of ₹ 8,000 each (i.e. aggregating ₹ 80,000). The payment, however, was to be settled partly against the delivery (exchange) of 2,000 kgs of sugar at the rate of ₹ 30 per kg, and the balance amount of ₹ 20,000 was to be paid in cash. Do you think that this will be deemed to be a valid agreement of sale or a case of barter, as the payment is to be made not fully in terms of money but partly in terms of money and partly in kind (i.e. sugar in the instant case). Give reasons for your answer.
- d) A student was induced by his teacher to sell his brand new car to the later at less than the purchase price to secure more marks in the examination. Accordingly, the car was sold. However, the father of the student persuaded to sue his teacher. State whether the student can sue the teacher.
- e) Where there are two debts one for ₹ 1,000 and another for ₹ 1,200 falling due on the same day and if the debtor pays ₹ 800, whether the appropriation can be made pro-rata for the two debts?

Answer:

- a) According to section 4 of The Indian Contract Act, 1872, the communication of a revocation is complete,—
- i) as against the person who makes it, when it is put into a course of transmission to the person to whom it is made, so as to be out of the power of the person who makes it;
 - ii) as against the person to whom it is made, when it comes to his knowledge.
- Example: P revokes his proposal by email. The revocation is complete as against P when the email is sent. It is complete as against Q when Q opens his mail box and receives it.
- b) Yes, Avinash can recover the money from Bijay. Though a contract with a minor is void ab initio, he is allowed to be a beneficiary in a transaction and enforce his claim. The basic logic is that a contract with a minor has been kept void only to protect his interest and not to prejudice his interest.
- c) This will be deemed to be a valid agreement of sale (and not a case of barter) as the payment is to be made not fully in terms of exchange of goods but partly in terms of money and partly in kind (i.e. sugar in the instant case). This is so because, as per the provisions made in the Sale of Goods Act, in case of a sale of any (property in) goods, in consideration of a certain amount of money (cash or cheque or bank draft), and such settled price is paid partly in terms of money and partly by way of some goods (i.e. in kind), such transaction will also be deemed to be a valid sale in the eye of law.

- d) A contract is said to be induced by undue influence where the relations subsisting between the parties are such that

- (i) One of the party is in a position to dominate the will of the other and
- (ii) Uses that position to obtain an unfair advantage over the other.

Undue influence means improper or unfair use of one's superior power in order to obtain the consent of a person who is in a weaker position.

When consent to agreement is obtained by undue influence, the agreement is a Contract Voidable at the option of the party whose consent was so obtained. Any such contract may be set aside either absolutely, or if the party has received any benefit under the contract, upon such terms and conditions as the court may deem fit.

So, in the given case the student can sue his teacher on the ground of Undue Influence.

- e) When a debtor owes several distinct debts to a creditor and makes a payment insufficient to satisfy the whole indebtedness a question arises about the appropriation of the payment. Section 59 to 61 lay down the following three rules in this regard:

- (i) Where the debtor intimates (Sec 59) – If the debtor expressly intimates at the time of actual payment that the payment should be applied towards the discharge of a particular debt, the creditor must do so.
- (ii) Where the debtor does not intimate and the circumstances are not indicative (Sec 60) – Where the debtor does not expressly intimate or where the circumstances attending on the payment do not indicate any intention, the creditor may apply it at his discretion to pay lawful debt actually due and payable to him from the debtor.
- (iii) Where the debtor does not intimate and the creditor fails to appropriate (Sec 61) – Where the debtor does not expressly intimate and where the creditor fails to make any appropriation, the payment shall be applied in discharge of the debts in chronological order, i.e., in order of time. If the debts are of equal standing, the payment shall be applied in discharge of each proportionately.

So, in the given case, as per section 61, the appropriation can be made proportionately, if neither party appropriates specifically.

Question: 7

- a) Adarsh obtains possession of a motorcycle under hire-purchase agreement. He then sells the same to Bhavesh who purchased the same in good faith and for value. Meanwhile Adarsh defaults in paying the hire charges and the owner wants his motorcycle back. Bhavesh pleads ignorance of the defective title. Discuss
- b) 'A stipulation may be a condition though called warranty in a contract.'
- c) No one can give a better title than he himself has. State the exceptions to the rule.
- d) A bill of exchange is payable to Sunder on order. At maturity another person of the same name wrongfully gets possession of the bill and presents it to the acceptor for payment. After being satisfied that the person presenting is Sunder, the acceptor makes payment on it in due course. Is the acceptor discharged?

Answer:

- a) As Adarsh possesses a defective or no title to the motorcycle, he cannot give a better title as sale involves transfer of ownership. So Bhavesh cannot claim a good title to the motorcycle and the owner has right to get it back.
- b) How a contract is constructed decides whether a stipulation is a condition or warranty in a contract. For example, when a person buys a particular Pressure Cooker which is warranted to cook rice in just 5 minutes. In case it doesn't the only remedy to the buyer is to claim damages. But if the buyer insists on buying a Pressure Cooker that cooks rice in just 5 minutes, the stipulation is a Condition and the buyer may reject the offer.

Revisionary Test Paper_Intermediate_Syllabus 2008_Jun2014

- c) The exceptions to the rule are given vide Sections 27 to 30 of Sale of Goods Act, 1930 These are as follows:
- i. Sale by a mercantile agent who is in possession of the goods with consent of the seller and sells the goods in ordinary course of business.
 - ii. Sale by a joint owner in possession of goods with consent of other joint owners. (Sec 28)
 - iii. Sale by a person in possession of goods under a contract which may be voidable on the ground of fraud, misrepresentation, coercion or undue influence provided sale is made before voidable contract is avoided. (Sec 29)
 - iv. Sale by seller who is in possession of the goods after sale but not in capacity of buyer's bailee. The subsequent buyer must buy in good faith and for value. (Sec 30)
 - v. Sale by buyer who is in possession of the goods before actual purchase if the subsequent buyer buys bona fide and for value. (Sec 30(2))
 - vi. Sale made by unpaid seller exercising his right of lien and stoppage in transit. (Sec 54(3))
 - vii. Sale made by finder of lost goods u/s 169 of the Indian Contract Act.
 - viii. Sale by pawnee or pledgee u/s 176 of the Indian Contract Act.
 - ix. Sale made by Official Receiver or Official Assignee or Liquidator.
- d) "Payment in due course" means payment in accordance with the apparent tenor of the instrument in good faith and without negligence to any person in possession thereof. The payment to the person in possession of the instrument must be under circumstances which do not afford a reasonable ground for believing that he is not entitled to receive payment of the amount mentioned in the instrument. If, under suspicious circumstances, the person making the payment does not make the necessary inquiry, the payment is not a payment in due course.
- In the given case, if the acceptor does not make the necessary inquiry before making the payment, it is not a payment in due course. So, he is not discharged.

Question: 8

- a) P purchased from Q 5000 tins of canned fruit to be packed in cases, each containing 50 tins but Q supplied cases containing 25 tins. Does P have right to reject the goods?
- b) R buys goods from S on payment but leaves the goods in the possession of S. S then pledges the goods to T who has no notice of the sale to R. State whether the pledge is valid and whether T can enforce it. Decide with reference to the provisions of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930.
- c) Modern Furniture, a partnership firm, was getting the supplies of its finished goods from Saharanpur from several suppliers on credit. But, after some time, the firm started facing some financial problems, and thereby its dues to its suppliers had accumulated to a substantial amount over a period of time. Thereupon, an agreement was reached between the partnership firm and its various suppliers to the effect that the firm will pay its due to its creditors out of the profit it would earn from time to time. It was further agreed upon that the firm's business from now onwards will be run under the supervision of the creditors, till such time all their dues were fully paid.
- Do you think that, under the aforementioned arrangement, the various creditors of the firm will now be deemed to be the partners of the firm on the ground that they were being paid their dues by the firm out of its profits? Give reasons for your answer.
- d) Zeeshan, an agent of a buyer, had obtained goods from the Railway organization and loaded the goods on his truck. In the meantime, the Railway organization received a notice from Y, a seller, for stopping goods in transit as the buyer had become insolvent. Referring to the provisions of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930 decide whether the Railway organization can stop the goods in transit, as instructed by the seller?

Answer:

- a) This is based on the provisions of Section 15 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930. P is entitled to reject the goods because the goods were not packed according to the description. It is to be noted that if the goods do not correspond with the description but such goods are fit for buyer's purpose, even then the buyer may reject the goods and the seller cannot take defense by saying that the goods will serve buyer's purpose.
- b) The problem is based on the provisions of Section 30 (1) of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930 which provides an exception to the general rule that no one can give a better title than he himself possesses. As per the provisions of the section, if a person has sold goods but continues to be in possession of them or of the documents of title to them, he may pledge them to a third person and if such person obtains them in good faith without notice of the previous sale, he would have good title to them. Accordingly, T the pledgee who obtains the goods in good faith from R without notice of the previous sale, gets a good title. Thus the pledge is valid.
- c) Under the aforementioned arrangement, the various creditors of the firm will not be deemed to be the partners of the firm in any manner, despite the fact that they were now being paid their dues by the firm out of its profits. This is so because, Section 6 has amply clarified that, though the sharing of profit in the business of the partnership firm happens to be one of the most essential elements in any partnership firm, none of the persons will be deemed to be the partners of the firm, just because they are being paid out of the profits earned by the firm. That is, in addition to the element of profit-sharing, the various other essential ingredients of a partnership must also be present, to consider such group of persons as a partnership. Such contention is based on the judgement delivered by the House of Lords in the case titled Cox vs Hickman (1860) 8 HLC, 268.
- d) The right of stoppage of goods in transit can be exercised only so long as the goods are in the course of transit. In the given case the transit was at an end as soon as the agent of the buyer obtained goods from the Railway Organisation. Therefore Railway Organisation cannot act as instructed by the seller, who has lost the right of stoppage of the goods in transit as provided in Section 30 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930.

Question: 9

- a) What would constitute as 'Delivery' in relation to Sale of Goods Act, 1930.
- b) Mohan introduced Kabir to Seikh as a partner in his firm named Mohan and Friends. But, in fact, Kabir is not a partner in the firm named. However, despite not being a partner in the firm, Kabir not contradicted the aforementioned statement of Mohan, and had preferred to keep quiet, instead. After a couple of days, Seikh had given a loan of ₹ 1,25,000 to the firm. But, as the firm was not paying back the loan amount, Seikh had approached Kabir for repayment of the loan. At this point of time, Kabir refused to repay the loan on the ground that he was never a partner in the firm, and therefore, he cannot be held responsible for the repayment of the loan given not to him but to the firm of Mohan. Do you think that the contention of Kabir in the instant case is legally justified? Give reasons for your answer.
- c) The seller had sold to the buyer 1,200 tonnes of stainless steel sheets of a specific quality, which was required under the contract for sale of goods, to be shipped at 100 tonnes per month and in equal installments each month. But after 400 tonnes of the total quantity of 1,200 tonnes delivered to and also paid for by the buyer, it was found that the goods which were supplied were not of the agreed quality, and accordingly, he had refused to take any further delivery of the goods. Do you think that the buyer was rightfully entitled to refuse to take any further delivery of the goods? Give reasons for your answer.

Answer:

Revisionary Test Paper_Intermediate_Syllabus 2008_Jun2014

- a) 'Delivery' is defined under the act as 'a voluntary transfer of possession from one person to another.' (Sec.(2)) As per Section 33, delivery of goods sold may be effected by doing anything which parties agree to be treated as delivery. Thus delivery of goods may be:
- Actual or physical delivery- Physical possession of goods is handed over to buyer from seller.
 - Symbolic delivery- In this case delivery involves transfer of some symbol that signifies real possession or control of goods. For example, endorsement of Railway Receipt, delivery of godown key etc.
 - Constructive delivery: In this case there is only an acknowledgement on the part of the person holding possession of goods that he holds them on behalf of buyer. There are three types of constructive delivery:
 - When buyer holding the goods as bailor holds them as his own.
 - When seller holding the goods, holds them as bailee of the buyer.
 - When third person holding the goods on behalf seller, now agrees to hold them on behalf of buyer.
- b) No, the contention of Kabir in the instant case is not legally justified. This is so because, Kabir, in the instant case, will be considered as partner of the firm by virtue of being a 'partner by holding out', also referred to as a 'partner by estoppel', as per the provisions of Section 28, based on the following circumstances of the case :
- That, Kabir had knowingly permitted himself to be represented, to be a partner of the firm;
 - That, such representation was made by him by his conduct; and
 - That, the other party had given the credit to the firm, based on the faith of such representation.
- Accordingly, Kabir cannot be allowed to plead that, in fact, he was not a partner in the firm. Instead, he will have to compensate Seikh by virtue of his being a 'partner by holding out', also referred to as a 'partner by estoppel'.
- c) Yes, the buyer was rightfully entitled to refuse to take any further delivery of the goods, because he was not bound to take the risk of accepting any further delivery of the goods which did not conform to the quality that was contracted for. This is so because though, under the provisions of the Sale of Goods Act, usually, the failure on the part of the seller to deliver any one of the installments to the buyer, or the failure on the part of the buyer to pay for any of the instalments to the seller, does not amount to the repudiation of the contract as a whole, in the cases where the breach is of such a nature that it could be reasonably inferred that a similar breach is most likely to be committed by the defaulting party even in the cases of future transactions, the other party will be entitled to treat the whole contract as repudiated. This contention is also confirmed in a similar case titled Robert A. Munso & Co. vs Meyer [(1930) 2 K.B. 312].

the number of its employees on its roll fell to thirteen. Do the provisions of the Employees Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952 cease to be applicable under such circumstances?

Answer:

- a) As per Sec.3(3)(a) of Minimum Wages Act, 1948 minimum wage rate may vary depending on different variables like:
 - 1) Scheduled employment
 - 2) Classes of work in same scheduled employment
 - 3) Locality
- b) As per Sec. 8(7) of The Payment of Wages Act, 1936 no fines can be recovered after expiry of 90 days from the date on which it is imposed. So Vishal (P) Ltd. will not be able to recover the fine from Divya in September, 2013 as the gap exceeded 90 days.
- c) As per Section 36 of the Payment of Bonus Act, the appropriate Government may, having regard to the financial position and other relevant circumstances of any establishment or class of establishments, exempt, by notification in the Official Gazette, such establishment or class of establishments from all or any of the provisions of the Payment of Bonus Act. It may do so if it is of opinion that it will not be in public interest to apply all such establishment or class of establishments from the application of such provisions of the Act for such period as may be specified in the notification and impose such conditions as it may think fit to impose. As in the given case the company has been incurring losses right from the commencement of its business, goes to indicate that its financial position is weak enough, and accordingly, the appropriate Government is most likely to consider that it would be in the public interest to exempt this company from the application of all or any of the provisions of the Act. However, the appropriate Government, according such exemption, may impose such conditions on the company, as it may consider fit.
- d) According to sec 5(1) of the Employees Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952, an establishment to which this Act applies shall continue to be governed by this Act notwithstanding that the number of persons employed therein at any time falls below twenty. As such the provisions of the Employees Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952 continue to be applicable to DEF Ltd.

- d) When is a LLP not bound by act of its members?

Answer:

- a) 'Occupier' of Factory implies the person who has ultimate control over the affairs of the factory. Provided that:

 - ii. In case of a company, the directors are occupiers.
 - iii. In case of a factory owned by Central or State Government or Local Authority, the persons employed to manage the affairs of the factory will deemed to be the occupiers.

Revisionary Test Paper_Intermediate_Syllabus 2008_Jun2014

In short, an occupier may be owner, lessee or licensee but he should have the right to occupy the property and dictate terms of management. An employee charged with specific machinery, workers or office is not an occupier.

- b) As per Section 2 (m) factory means any premises including the precincts thereof -
- Whereon 10 or more workers are working or were working on any day of the preceding 12 months, and in any part of which a manufacturing process is being carried on with the aid of power, or is ordinarily so carried on, or
 - Whereon 20 or more workers are working or were working on any day of the preceding 12 months, and in any part of which a manufacturing process is being carried on without the aid of power, or is ordinarily so carried on.

For computing the number of workers, all the workers in different groups in a day shall be taken into account.

So, in the given case, as per section 2(m) the concern is a factory within the meaning of that term under the Factories Act, 1948.

- c) As per section 2(k) of The Factories Act, 1948, manufacturing process means any process for-
- Making, altering, repairing, ornamenting, finishing, packing, oiling, washing, cleaning, breaking up, demolishing, or otherwise treating or adapting any article or substance with a view to its use, sale, transport, delivery or disposal, or

- i. If an adult, one day for every 20 days of work performed by him during the previous calendar year.

- i. 6 day's leave, and
- ii. 8 day's leave.

- b) Under Sec. 25-B of Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, an employee shall be deemed to be in continuous service of one year if he has worked for at least 240 days during the period of 12 months preceding the reference date of calculation.

Dinesh has worked for 273 days before he was laid off. So he is entitled to lay-off compensation and can claim the same.

- c) The doctrine of estoppel states when a person by his words, spoken or written or by his conduct willfully leads another person to believe about certain state of affairs, and induces the person to act in a particular manner, he is estopped from denying that state of affairs subsequently.

Sec. 237 deals with agency by estoppel. According to it, if a person by his conduct leads another to believe that certain person is his agent or his agent is authorized to incur the particular obligation, the principal is bound by acts of the person posing as his agent or where the agent has exceeded his authority.

For e.g. A terminates the services of B, his agent but forgets to give notice of the same. C contracts with B. A is bound by the contract.

iii) Worker is entitled to compensation which is 50% of Basic + DA payable to him in case he was not laid off for all days of lay-off excluding weekly holidays.	Compensation is 15 days average pay for each year of completed service or part thereof in excess of six months.

Permanent partial disablement reduces the earning capacity in every employment the worker was capable of doing at the time of employment.
Total disablement u/s 2(1) (I) means worker becomes incapable in performing any work which he could perform before accident. Total disablement is deemed to result from every injury specified in Part I of Schedule I or combination of injuries specified in Part II resulting in loss of earning capacity to the extent of 100% or more.
- b) Since a qualified allopathic physician treated with ayurvedic medicine which is not his area of specialization/knowledge, this physician would be held guilty of negligence on the death of a patient. This is a fault also on the part of the physician.
- c) As per Sec. 12, where an employer (known as principal) takes help of a contractor in order to engage some workmen, a workman is entitled to claim compensation from principal if he satisfies the following conditions :

 - (iii) The workman employed in the execution of work must have been injured by accident arising out of and in course of his employment.

Further, nothing in this section shall be construed as preventing a workman from recovering compensation from the contractor instead of the principal.
In the given case, X is liable to pay compensation but he can recover it from Y or Z. If X recovers the amount from Y, Y can recover the same from Z.

- The provisions of the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965 do not ordinarily apply to an establishment in public sector. - c) X has balance of ₹ 3000/- in YZ Bank. He draws a cheque of ₹ 10,000/- in favour of C knowing fully that he has no O/D facility. The cheque is dishonoured. Is 'notice of dishonour' to X necessary?
- d) What is 'information' under RTI Act?
- e) When is a LLP not bound by act of its members?

Answer:

- a) For the purposes of the above mentioned section of the said Act, "predatory price" is sale of goods or provision of services at a price below cost, as may be determined by regulations, of production of goods or provision of services, with a view to reduce competition or eliminate the competitors.
- b) The problem stated in the question is based on the provisions of the Negotiable Instruments Act as contained in Section 53. The section provides: 'Once a negotiable instrument passes through the hands of a holder in due course, it gets cleansed of its defects provided the holder was himself not a party to the fraud or illegality which affected the instrument in some stage of its journey. Thus any defect in the title of the transferor will not affect the rights of the holder in due course even if he had knowledge of the prior defect provided he is himself not a party to the fraud. (Section 53).

Thus applying the above provisions it is quite clear that Binod who originally induced Chirag in obtaining the bill of exchange in question fraudulently, cannot succeed in the case. The reason is obvious as Binod himself was a party to the fraud.

Such additional remuneration is a matter of arrangement with the directors. But any remuneration paid as fees, expenses or otherwise for such service must be disclosed in the Profit & Loss Account. Question: 26

Discuss the responsibilities of a Company Auditor in relation to Branch Accounts, Branch Audit and Branch Auditor.

Answer:

When the company's auditor himself is auditor for the branch accounts, he treats the whole company as audit unit and ensures that the branch accounts have been properly incorporated in the main office account for consideration. Also there remains no question of any separate and distinct right to visit branch or to have access to the books, accounts and vouchers.

When the branch accounts are audited by a person other than the company's auditor, it is necessary to define the position of the company auditor in relation to branch accounts and branch auditor. The Companies Act, u/s 228 (2), has given a right of the company's auditor to visit the branch and to have access to the books of accounts and vouchers maintained at branch when the branch audit is conducted by a person other than the company's auditor. Also, the Companies (Branch Audit Exemption) Rules, 1961 has retained this right for the company's auditor in respect of branches granted exemption from audit – this is a right given to the company auditor and not a duty cast on him. If in his own assessments of the situation, he considers it necessary for the proper audit of the accounts of the company, he may visit the branch and may have access to the books, accounts and vouchers maintained there: but it is not compulsory that he must visit the branch or branches.

Under Section 228(3) (c), the company's auditor is required to deal with the branch audit report received from the branch auditor, in preparing his own reports. The manner in which to deal with report is left to him. This requirement is supplemental to the main duty cast on him under section 227(3)(bb) to state in his report whether the branch audit report has been forwarded to him and how he has dealt with the same.

Full freedom of judgment has been given to the company auditor to decide the prima facie relevance and impact of the branch audit report on the total company accounts. Certain matter may appear material and important in limited context of the operations of the branch may be considered not much significant in setting of total company accounts. He, therefore, may incorporate the points, if any, made in branch audit report if he considered the same relevant in making the Consolidated Accounts true & fair.

He at his discretion may drop any or all the qualifications made in the branch audit report.

However, if the branch audit report contains qualifications on matters specially required to be disclosed in the Companies Accounts pursuant to the Schedule VI requirement, then it is obvious that the company auditor is left with no choice but to incorporate them in his own report after confirming the accuracy of the report, if he so feels.

The Company's auditor has a certain measure of responsibility in respect of the accounts and papers of the branch. This is shown by the fact that he has a right to visit the branch and has access to the papers and documents he has to make disclosure of anything in regard to the branch which he thinks is not in order and which has come to his notice.

The Statutory Auditor and Branch Auditor and has come to the conclusion that the Statutory Auditor would not be responsible in respect of the work entrusted to the branch auditor.

However, sufficient liaison between the two auditors is needed to ensure that the work is performed expeditiously, and expresses the view that statutory auditor will be within his right to issue written communication to the branch auditor to that end. The statutory auditors are entitled to make such enquiries as they think fit from the branch auditor. In making those enquiries, the statutory auditor will have regard to the materiality of the branch and any other circumstances affecting the operations of the company.

The auditor of the branch office should comply with request for information from the statutory auditors recognizing that such a request results not from a doubt as to competence of the branch auditor but for legal duty cast upon the statutory auditors to ensure that the accounts give a true and fair view and also gives information required by the Companies Act.

The statutory auditor may require the branch auditor to answer a detailed questionnaire regarding matters on which the statutory auditors required information that he considered necessary for an expeditious and proper audit but nevertheless keeps him free from any responsibility as regards the audit work performed by the branch auditor. In effect the statutory auditor is positioned to supervise the branch auditor's work and to this extent, it is in his accordance with the provision of the Companies Act. It has however, absolved the auditor from any responsibility connected with the work supervised.

Question: 29

- a) “Field work is a managerial control which functions by measuring and evaluating the effectiveness of other controls”. Discuss.
- b) What are the objects of Audit Working papers

Answer:

- a) The internal auditors' duty is to collect, classify and appraise information so that he is able to form an opinion and to make necessary recommendations for effective improvement in operation of the business. This job would consume a larger part of the auditor's time.

Two factors are mainly involved in this work:-

- (a) Measurement
- (b) Evaluation

First the concept of measurement needs to be discussed. The internal auditor would be able to examine any operation in the company if he is able to grasp this concept.

He must examine the operations in terms of units of measurement and standards applicable in such cases. The units of measures would be some discreet elements e.g. the rupees, days, degrees, documents, machines and some other quantifiable material. So the units of measurement would be such by which success or failure of the operation can be judged objectively. The standards on the other hand are those quantities of acceptability with which the measured things may be compared.

Hence each audit job would have to be approached with the idea that it can be dealt with by:-

- (a) Determining its size, extent or other quality in terms of some units of measurement.
- (b) Comparison of the results with acceptable standards. Then only the auditor would be able to carry out the audit objectively and intelligently. If however, the audit job is such that it cannot be approached as above, it would not be possible for the auditor to make an objective observation. In such cases perhaps he would be able to produce only some subjective observations. It should be remembered that measures is only one aspect of the field work. After making the measures the internal auditor would have to evaluate the results. The auditor would have to evaluate the data obtained through measurements to form his opinion and recommendations. Evaluation would mean arriving at correct judgment and to express such judgment in terms of what is known. In a few cases monetary worth of something may be determined.

Measurement Standard

The auditor must be able to evaluate the standard as they are applied in the field work. The auditor may need some modification in the light of future changes. Standards which are developed yesterday might not be applicable today. There may be some changes in the statutes, procedures, contracts etc For these reasons the standards have to be changed. The adequacy of the standards must be assessed. The measures of standards by the auditor should be done from the point of view of quality, cost and time schedule.

Interviews

The internal auditor has to send his report to the management on the assigned areas. The report to be meaningful, informative and effective, has to be definite in every observation it contains. To have definiteness and authentication, sometimes the internal auditor "interviews" the functional people in an honest endeavor to have elucidation in respect of facts collected by him or his representative during the course of audit. In his report, the internal auditor would point out the facts observed by him during audit and would also mention the facts revealed during the interview for explaining the real position to the management. Internal Audit Report is precious informative reports to aid the management in deciding the right course of action. Memoranda are often found very useful in passing some additional information to the internal auditor, in making his reports more informative and purposeful.

b) OBJECTS OF WORKING PAPERS:

1. In order to support the auditor's report these papers show in detail the work performed by the audit clerks
2. The auditor can form an opinion about the efficiency or otherwise of the audit clerks.
3. As the working papers remain with the auditor, as we shall see later on, they are the permanent record and therefore, in case of any suit against him for negligence, he can defend himself on the basis of these working papers.
4. The preparation of the working papers is a means to give training to audit clerks as to how to summarise the work done by them.
5. The working papers enable the auditor to point out to the client the weaknesses of the internal control system in operation, and deficiency of the accountancy system. He may therefore, be in a position to advice his client as to how to avoid such pitfalls.
6. The working papers help the auditor to plan for the succeeding year.
7. The working papers enable the auditor to prepare the report to be issued without much waste of time.
8. He can know that his assistants had followed his instructions.
9. If changes and transfer of staff are very frequent and in case such working papers exist the audit work can be assigned to others with minimum of dislocation with least possibility of duplication and omission of any work.
10. Future audit work can be carried on in the same sequence on the basis of the previous working papers.
11. Items left outstanding during the previous year, e.g. any document not produced, may be paid particular attention in the future.

The following are the circumstances wherein the management audit is useful-
