Conditions to be satisfied by a company on conversion into an LLP:

Section 47 (xiiib) says that any transfer of a capital asset or intangible asset by a private company or a unlisted public company to a limited liability partnership or any transfer of a share or shares held in the company by a shareholder as a result of conversion of the company into a limited liability partnership in accordance with the provisions of section 56 or section 57 of the Limited Liability Partnership Act, 2008 shall not be regarded as transfer if the following conditions are satisfied:

- (i) All the assets and liabilities of the company before the conversion become the assets and liabilities of the limited liability partnership;
- (ii) All the shareholders of the company immediately before the conversion become the partners of the limited liability partnership and profit-sharing ratio in the limited liability partnership are in the same proportion as their shareholding in the company on the date of conversion;
- (iii) The shareholders of the company do not receive any consideration or benefit, directly or indirectly, in any form or manner, other than by way of share in profit and capital contribution in the limited liability partnership;
- (iv) The aggregate of the profit-sharing ratio of the shareholders of the company in the limited liability partnership shall not be less than 50% at any time during the period of 5 years from the date of conversion;
- (v) The total sales, turnover or gross receipt in the business of the company in any of the 3 previous years preceding the previous year in which the conversion takes place does not exceed ₹ 60 lakhs;
- (vi) The total value of assets as appearing in the books of account of the company in any of the 3 previous years preceding the previous year in which the conversion takes place does not exceed ₹ 5 crore; and
- (vii) No amount is paid, either directly or indirectly, to any partner out of balance of accumulated profit standing in the accounts of the company on the date of conversion for a period of 3 years from the date of conversion.

In this case, the company has brought forward loss and unabsorbed depreciation:

Section 72A(6A) says that where there has been reorganization of business whereby a private company is succeeded by an LLP fulfilling the conditions of clause (xiiib) of section 47, then the accumulated loss and unabsorbed depreciation of the predecessor company shall be deemed to be the loss or allowance of depreciation of the successor LLP of the previous year in which the business organization was effected and other provisions of the Act relating to set off and carry forward of loss and depreciation shall apply accordingly.

In case Bimal does not want to become a partner in the LLP, he must cease to be a shareholder in the company. He can transfer his shares to some other shareholder before conversion in to LLP so that the unabsorbed depreciation and business loss on the date of conversion would remain intact and could be set off by the successor LLP.

Doctrine of partial merger

Section 263 of the Income-tax Act gives the power to Pr. CCIT or CCIT or PCIT or CIT to revise an order which is prejudicial to the interests of the Revenue; or which is erroneous and which was passed by an authority subordinate to him.

Revision under 263 of an order cannot be made when it is the subject matter of appeal.

However, the doctrine of partial merger is applicable in case of section 263 which means that the Commissioner can revise that part of the order which is not in the appeal.

In the present case, the assessee has preferred an appeal for the disallowance of business expenditure of $5,00,000 but the second point about the enhancement of depreciation is not a subject matter of the appeal filed by the assessee. As per the doctrine of partial merger, the Commissioner may at his own motion revise the assessment order of the Assessing Officer on the point of enhancement of depreciation.

Where the CIT (A) has disposed off the appeal without passing an order:

An assessment order cannot be said to have been made subject of an appeal if the appeal has been disposed of by the appellate authority without passing an order.

Since, in the present case, the Commissioner wants to revise the matter which is not taken up in appeal by the assessee, there will not be any change in the answer even if the appeal is disposed of by the Appellate Authority.

BM Act, 2015 / ICDS / Advance tax and interest U/s.234A

- (i) Since the entire foreign deposit of ₹ 30 lakhs is undisclosed foreign asset, it is liable to tax @ 30% under the Black Money Act, 2015.
- (ii) Where the grant or subsidy is related to depreciable fixed asset, it would go to reduce the actual cost of the asset or the written down value of block of assets. In case the asset has already been put to use the receipt of subsidy would be reduced from the WDV of the block of assets to which the asset pertains. In case the asset has not been put to use, the grant or subsidy would be deducted from the actual cost and on the resultant depreciation and additional depreciation would be computed.
- (iii) Senior citizens not having any income chargeable under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession", need not pay advance tax.
 - In the present case, Ramesh is a senior citizen aged 82 years and having income only under capital gains. Thus, he is not liable to pay advance tax instalments and is allowed to discharge is tax liability by payment of self-assessment tax.
- (iv) His total pension income would be ₹ 9,34,000 after standard deduction of ₹ 50,000. His income from bank SB interest when added his total income would be ₹ 9.66 lakhs.

He is liable to pay interest under section 234A for the delay in filing of ITR. The delay being 3 months (August, September and October) and interest @ 3% on tax liability (including cess) of ₹ 57,100 (rounded off) being ₹ 1,713. Alternative view: Since the regime to be followed is not mentioned in the question, a student may assume that the assesse has opted to pay tax as per the old regime. In that case, his total income after deduction u/s 80TTB ₹ 32,000 would be ₹ 9.34 lakhs. His tax liability (including cess) would be ₹ 1,00,670 (rounded off) and the interest @1% p.m. for 3 months would be ₹ 3,020.

He is not liable to pay advance tax and hence no interest is attracted under section 234B.

6. (a)

APA and rollback applicability

The benefit of APA can be applied for the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which the APA was entered into and four subsequent financial years. Thus, it will apply for the FY 2024-25 (date of APA 23.10.2024) and 4 subsequent financial years being F.Ys 2025-26, 2026-27, 2027-28 and 2028-29.

The roll back provisions will apply for four preceding assessment years only, preceding the assessment year 2025-26. Hence it cannot be applied for the AY 2020-21.

Roll back provisions will not apply in the following cases:

Where the ROI is not submitted within the "due date" stipulated in section 139(1)., or

Where the APA has the effect of reducing the total income already determined.

For the assessment year 2021-22, the ALP as per APA is less than ALP as per ITR. Therefore, rollback would not apply.

The ROI has been filed belatedly for AY 2022-23, hence rollback will not apply for that year.

For the assessment year 2023-24 and assessment year 2024-25 the ITR was filed before the due date and therefore the rollback provision would apply for both the years.

Stay granted by the Tribunal after the expiry of 365 days Issue involved

The issue under consideration is whether the stay order can be automatically vacated upon the expiry of extended period of stay of 365 days, where the delay in disposing of the appeal is not attributable to the assessee.

(OR)

The issue under consideration is whether the action of the AO in asking the assessee to pay the tax on the ground that the stay granted by the ITAT automatically got vacated after the expiry of extended period of stay of 365 days.

Provisions applicable

Where the appeal filed by an assessee before the Appellate Tribunal is not disposed of within the period of stay or extended period of stay granted by the Tribunal, the order of stay shall stand vacated after the expiry of 365 days, even if the delay in disposing of the appeal is not attributable to the assessee. [Third proviso to sec 254(2A)]

Analysis of the issue

The vacation of stay in favour of the Department would lead to a scenario where even if the Department is itself responsible for the delay in hearing the appeal and there is no fault on the assessee, the assessee is liable to pay tax demand.

This will cause undue hardship to the assessee, even where the assessee is not at fault.

In this sense, the provision is arbitrary and disproportionate so far as the assesse is concerned.

Conclusion

Hence the action of the AO is not valid in law.

The Apex Court in Dy. CIT v. Pepsi Foods Ltd (2021) 433 ITR 295 (SC) pointed out that the proviso would lead to automatic vacation of stay upon the expiry of 365 days and even if the tribunal could not take up of the appeal in time for no fault of the assessee. Further vacation of stay in favour of the Department would ensue even if the Department is itself responsible for the delay in hearing the appeal. In this sense, the proviso is manifestly arbitrary being a provision which is capricious, irrational and disproportionate so far as the assessee is concerned.

Accordingly, the apex court held that the third proviso to section 254(2A) has to be read without the word 'even' and the word 'not' appearing after the words 'delay in disposing of the appeal'. It would be "the order of stay shall stand vacated after the expiry of such period or periods, if the delay in disposing of the appeal is attributable to the assessee". Thus, any order of stay shall stand vacated after the expiry of the period or periods mentioned in the section, only if the delay in disposing of the appeal is attributable to the assessee.

Whether the impugned payment is 'royalty' and hence liable for TDS Issue involved:

The company is procuring softwares which are ready to use for redistribution in India and procuring computer hardwares with softwares inbuilt therein. The issue is whether such acquisition and payment is 'royalty' and hence liable for tax deduction under section 195.

Provisions applicable

Under section 195, TDS would be attracted only if the impugned payments to the non-resident are chargeable to tax in India.

Explanation 2(v) to section 9(1)(vi) says 'royalty' means consideration for transfer of all or any rights (including the granting of licence) in respect of any copyright, literary, artistic or scientific work.

As per Explanation 4, transfer of all or any rights includes transfer of all or any right for use or right to use computer software is also covered by the term 'royalty'.

Analysis

The Apex court in the case of Engineering Analysis Centre of Excellence (P) Ltd v. CIT (2021) 432 ITR 1 (SC) observed that the following would not amount to use of or right to use any copyright and that the amount paid by Indian resident to foreign company is not royalty for use of copyright in the computer software.:

- (i) Where computer software is purchased directly by end user resident in India, from a foreign, non-resident supplier or manufacturer;
- (ii) Where resident Indian concerns acting as distributors or resellers, purchase computer software from foreign, non-resident suppliers or manufacturers and then, resell the same to resident Indian end users;
- (iii) Where the distributor happens to be a foreign, non-resident vendor, who, after purchasing software from a foreign, non-resident seller, resells the same to resident Indian distributors or end users;
- (iv) Where computer software is affixed on to hardware and is sold as an integrated unit / equipment by foreign, non-resident suppliers to resident Indian distributors or end users;It is not a case of use of copyright and it is a case of use of copyrighted article being the software by the end users in India.

Therefore, the amount paid for purchase of software or the hardware in which the software is affixed is not royalty and hence not liable for tax deduction under section 195.

Therefore, EE (P) Ltd need not apprehend TDS provisions being applicable in its case as it is involved in purchase and sale of copyrighted article and not empowering the buyers to use the copyright as such.
